How to Play “Greaseless in the City”

To prepare
1. Print the cards on pages 1-6 on any printer. Heavy paper is nice, as is different colored paper for the “Life Challenge” cards and the “Good Government” cards.
2. The back side of each card can be printed from page 9. (This is not necessary to play the game.)
3. Print the instruction cards on page 7 and then print page 8 on the back, checking for alignment so each card has an ice cream cone on the front and the game rules on the back. (A different color paper is good.)
4. Cut up the cards.
5. Any number can play. It’s more fun with a larger group. Every game is different.
6. You can vary the game by printing extra “Life Challenge” cards to increase the challenge. Or by holding the “Good Government” cards aside for the first 3 rounds of play.

To play
1. Give each player a copy of the ice-cream cone instruction card to read and keep.
2. Choose a player to be scorekeeper. Create a score sheet with each player’s name to record their earnings each round and total for the game. Add a column for the Public Treasury, where official fees paid will be recorded and totalled.
3. The first player draws a card. He earns $100 this round, which he can spend or save. Players may agree to allow borrowing.
4. When a player must lose a turn, they lose their NEXT turn, and their earning from that turn, but they do earn this turn.
5. When a player chooses to bribe, but loses two coin flips, they must the bribe but do not receive the service. Now they must face the original three choices: pay the full fee, try bribing again, or lose turns.
6. The game is over when each card has been played. The winner is the player with the highest total earnings.
8. Feedback welcome. Write me at: LBreuning@SystemIntegrityResources.com.

• You earn $100 income every time it's your turn, unless otherwise specified.
• Whenever the Public Treasury grows by $500, everyone's income goes up $50 for the rest of the game.
  (a.) When anyone pays a required fee, it goes into a pile called the "Public Treasury."
  (b.) If you choose to bribe, flip a coin. If it comes up heads, pay 50% of the indicated payment. If tails, your bribe was rejected. You can flip once more. Place bribe in front of you under this card.
(c.) Lose turn means you lose the income due to time wasted.
• Any Good Government card can be held for the future or imposed on another player.
• The WINNER is the person with the highest total earnings when all the cards have been played.
